DESPERADOES

Surrounded by Cavalry and United States Marshals.

The Outlaws Are Reported to Occupy a Strongly Fortified Position.

With Plenty of Arms and Provisions—Every Member of the Gang is a Noted Criminal, and They Announce That They Will Never Be Taken Alive.

SILVER CITY, N. M., Aug. 28.—Word was received here that the nine men comprising the gang of desperadoes who robbed the Separ post office, held up the Nogales bank, and killed one and wounded several members of the party which pursued them are surrounded in Skeleton canon in Cochise county, Arizona, by a posse of United States marshals acting under Marshal Hall of New Mexico, and two companies of troops from Fort Bayard and Fort Grant and that an attack will be made as soon as the troops and marshal have entirely surrounded the place where the robbers are supposed to be fortified.

Upon learning of the location of the robbers Marshal Hall received instructions from the department to call upon the troops if necessary and Wednesday Company D, of the Seventh cavalry, under command of Lieut. Clark, left Fort Bayard, for the scene to co-operate with a company ordered out from Fort Grant.

Wednesday night, in pursuance to a telegram received from Marshal Hall, a citizens' posse, under charge of Deputy Simmons, was organized and left here to act with posses from Deming, Lordsburg and other places. The robbers are reported to occupy a strongly fortified position with plenty of arms and provisions and the character of the country is such that they can successfully resist a force of many times their number. Every member of the gang is a noted criminal and they have been operating on the border successfully for several months, committing crimes of every description. The attack upon the strong hold of the robbers will likely be made Thursday evening. The force under Marshal Hall now numbers nearly one hundred and fifty men, and a fight will likely occur as the robbers have announced their determination to never be taken alive.

Suit Against Paducah.
PADUCAH, Ky., Aug. 28.—Will Haffey, ex-member of the fire department, brought suit against the city for $5,000 damages. He recently received painful injuries by a rotten fire alarm pole falling on him.

ADVISORS
May Be Appointed From the Populists and Silver Banks to Co-Operate With the Democratic Committee.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The announcement of the appointment of an advisory committee of six men outside the regular democratic party, by Chairman Jones, of the national committee may be expected this week. The senator said Thursday to a reporter for the United Associated Presses on the subject:

"I am considering the announcement of an advisory committee representing organizations which are working together with the democratic party in a common cause, but I shall not give out the names to-day, as I contemplated. I propose to have six members, who will represent the populist, exclusively silver men and silver republicans. It is desirable that we should have free consultation and expression of ideas as to what ought to be done and what ought not. This committee will facilitate our work in the campaign."

CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Discussed by Ex-President Benj. Harrison in Carnegie Hall, New York.

CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Carnegie hall was crowded to the doors Thursday night with an enthusiastic audience that had gathered to hear ex-President Harrison discuss the issues of the campaign. The occasion was a big republican rally, held under the auspices of the republican state committee. Hon. Chauncey M. Depew presided and delivered a stirring address, as did President David T. Hill, of the Rochester university. A host of republicans of national repute occupied seats on the platform and in the audience.

The hall and stage were beautifully decorated with the national colors and the effect was most pleasing to the eye. The seventh regiment band furnished instrumental music and a glee club sang campaign songs written for the occasion.

Destructive Fire at Sault Ste. Marie.
SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Aug. 28.—Fire started Thursday on North Water street and before it could be got under control over $300,000 worth of property was destroyed. Among the burned buildings are the Soo national bank block, which cost $100,000; the Penzance block, Chippewa house, Cleveland house, Metzger block, Berry hotel, post office and United States customs office, telephone exchange and a number of wooden structures. The loss is about half covered by insurance.

Cleveland's Gosh to New York.
BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Aug. 28.—The steam yacht Sapphire, owned by Mr. Stillman, of New York, sailed from here at 12:45 p. m. for that city with President Cleveland on board.

THE VICEROY

Of China, Li Hung Chang, Lands in New York.

The Renowned Diplomat Becomes the Guest of the Nation.

He is Met by Gen. Ruger, President Cleveland's Representative, and Escorted to the Hotel Waldorf, Yellow Jacket, Peacock Feather and All.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Li Hung Chang, viceroy of China, ambassador extraordinary to Russia and world-renowned diplomat, arrived in New York Friday and became the guest of the nation. The stately St. Louis passed Fire Island at 10:30 a. m. with the distinguished visitor on board. The American-built greyhound of the seas made the trip from Southampton in six days and three hours. She was saluted by the tooting of whistles of the tugs and steamers as she passed up the lower bay and entered the Narrows.

The day was a perfect one. Bright sunlight overhead, an atmosphere clear as crystal, with a tinge of autumn coolness in it, a light breeze that fanned the surface of the bay, combined to make the first view that Li Hung Chang had of the harbor of the metropolis a pleasant one. Added to its natural beauties was the imposing spectacle furnished by the presence of the finest fleet of warships Uncle Sam has ever gathered together. They were the best of the new navy, and every vessel was polished and painted and made ready for the reception of the honored guest. There was the fine cruiser New York, flagship of the fleet, with Adm. Bunce on board.

LI HUNG CHANG.

The cruisers Cincinnati, Columbia, Raleigh, Newark, the battleships Indiana and Massachusetts, peerless in their class; the Maine, the Texas, the monitors Amphitrite and Terror, the ram Katahdin and the dispatch-boat Dolphin, with the reception committee on board. The men-of-war formed in double column, and as the St. Louis passed between the lines, saluted in turn with the roar of their batteries. The committee from the Dolphin boarded the St. Louis off Quarantine and accompanied Li Hung Chang to the pier of the American line at the foot of Fulton street, where the landing was made.

Preparations for the reception of the famous Chinaman had been carefully arranged. Maj. Gen. Thomas Ruger, commander of the department of the east, as the personal representative of President Cleveland, with his two staff officers, Maj. George W. Davis and Capt. Mills; William R. Rockhill, first assistant secretary of state, representing his department; the Chinese minister, Yang Yu, and secretary, the Chinese consul, Sze, and a representative of the United Associated Presses boarded the United States dispatch-boat Dolphin early Friday morning and steamed down the bay to meet the ambassador.

After Gen. Ruger and party stepped aboard the St. Louis they went immediately to the aft drawing room, where they were met by Vice President Wright, of the American line. Li was in his state room and word was sent to him that the government representatives were ready to meet him.

Li Hung Chang, after a delay of 15 minutes, was conducted to the drawing room by Vice-President Wright and his interpreter and secretary. He was at once presented to Gen. Ruger, who said:

"I am directed by the president of the United States to meet you and extend to you the freedom of the nation. I bid you welcome."

The viceroy bowed his head and said: "I thank you for the courtesy." Li was dressed in that highest of Chinese distinction, the famous yellow jacket with accompanying ornament, the peacock feather, all of which the grand secretary was temporarily deprived of once because he did not manage the Chinese-Japanese war to the emperor's liking. He wore a dark blue broadcloth surcoat opening on to one of pale blue, which was turned aside to display the yellow riding jacket. This was completed by a crimson skirt, which was profusely covered with floral designs.

The peacock feather hung from a red-topped button-crowned mandarin hat and dropped down to the back of his neck.

Li was formally presented to all present in the room, some dozen or more. He shook hands with them all. He was asked if he would like to slip out on the deck and look at the harbor as the ship sailed up, but he motioned that he preferred to sit down and talk with those present.

Gen. Ruger took a seat to his left and the interpreter to the right. The viceroy, in a democratic position, threw one knee over the other and began to ask questions. He would like to know if the president of the republic was in New York. He was told that he was and that he would see him Saturday.

To this the viceroy bowed his head in acknowledgment.

It was 1:30 p. m. the steamer touched the pier. Li's sedan chair was gotten ready for him, but he turned to the men and said: "I do not need it. I prefer to walk upon American shores."

At 11:30, accompanied by the official party, he left the steamer by a private gangway and was greeted by the naval militia, who beat a welcoming tune upon drums. The party descended from the upper pier by elevator, which was elaborately decorated with Chinese colors, to the floor below, where another company of the naval reserves formed a cordon. Here eight carriages were in waiting for the foreigners. There was a delay of half an hour in getting away. In the meantime an immense crowd had gathered outside the American line dock, at the foot of Fulton street. A large force of police was on hand and they had all they could do to restrain the throng.

A detachment of the Sixth cavalry, U. S. A., was in waiting to escort the envoy and his suite to the Hotel Waldorf. A start was made at two p. m. In the first carriage was Li Hung Chang, his secretary and interpreter; Gen. Ruger and Mr. Rockhill, assistant secretary of state. The rest of the suite followed in other carriages. As soon as Li's carriage came off the pier into West street half of the cavalry detachment fell in and preceded the procession. The other half joined in behind the last carriage and in this order the march to the Waldorf hotel was made.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

A Mother Kills Her Three Children and Then Suicides—The Woman was Probably Crazy.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—At noon Friday the family of Charles W. Green, traveling passenger agent of the Big Four railway, consisting of Mrs. Green and three children, a boy aged 13; a girl aged 9, and a little girl six were found dead in their home, 519 West Thirty-fourth street. All the little ones were in their beds and the mother lay dead in a doorway with a revolver by her side. The murder or suicide is supposed to have occurred Wednesday morning, about 2 o'clock, as at that hour neighbors heard pistol shots near the Green home, but no investigation was made until the non-appearance of the Green family led to an inquiry.

Mr. Green left the city a week ago last Tuesday to go on a trip to Salt Lake City with Mr. Lynch, assistant general passenger agent of the Big Four. Thursday morning one of the neighbors' children went to the Green home to play with the children. He could not find anybody at the house and told his parents. They thought it strange, but did nothing until Friday morning, when there was still no signs of life about the house.

Repeated knocks at the door failed to bring a response, then a ladder was raised to a second-story window and one of the neighbors went in and the dead bodies of the family were found.

Mrs. Green had not undressed for bed and it was evident that she had put the children to bed, waiting until they were asleep, and then sent them into eternity. The only explanation of the terrible crime is that Mrs. Green was crazy.

Mr. Green is now on his way from Salt Lake. He always appeared very much devoted to his family. His friends say his home life was especially happy.

PRIMARY ELECTION.

Complete Returns in South Carolina Show a Total Vote of 70,000.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 28.—Complete returns to the state from the primary elections in this state, which was principally to nominate a United States senator, show a total vote of 70,000. The candidates are Gov. Evans, Circuit Judge Earles and John Duncan, a clerk of the secretary of state. Evans got 38,391; Earles 30,933, and Duncan 8,369. The combined vote of Duncan and Earles is 39,351—980 more than Evans. In the second primary, now necessary, Duncan's vote is almost certain to go for Earles along with the heretofore silent vote. Earle is overwhelmingly nominated for governor. McSweeney is an easy winner for lieutenant governor. Mayfield almost doubles Robinson for superintendent of education, and Watts defeats Enichburg for adjutant general by several thousand.
